BANDS PLEASE AT 5TH ANNUAL NIGHT OF MUSIC

Climaxed with a stirring presentation of the "Stars and Stripes Forever" march with a score of brass instrumentalists lined across the stage in front of the band to give a special final touch to the popular number, the Senior and Junior High School bands of Gettysburg High School presented the fifth annual Night of Music in the school auditorium Friday evening. Nearly 500 attended.

Just before the final number presentation was made of the annual Arion award for musicianship, scholarship and citizenship by Robert G. Zeigler, director of the bands.

Hugh M. McIlhenny, a Senior and first clarinetist in the band for the last two years, received the award. Identity of the winner had not been announced in advance. Mr. Zeigler said the final selection was made by the school faculty from a list of nominees voted upon by the band members. The voting was "very close" and the selection was not made until late Friday afternoon, he added.

Majorities Perform
Although they were disappointed that their expected new uniforms did not arrive in time for the concert, the 68 members of the Junior High band presented an eight-number repertoire that won many favorable comments from the audience.

Majority routines by Junior and Senior High School majorities featured each section of the 90-minute program.

With a generous sprinkling of marches that proved most popular with the audience, the bands interspersed the program with special selections that included a coronet duet by Robert Baker & Paul Dietz; a clarinet trio by Mary Brumbaugh, Janet Johnson and Diane Moser in the Junior High section; a tympani solo by Fred Smith, a specialty act by John Coleman and Donald Smith while the band played "Serenade to an Insomniac" and a clarinet quartet by Hugh McIlhenny, Elizabeth Dorr, Carolyn Ketterman and Jane Reuning. Donald Moser, student director of the senior band, directed the 54-piece senior band in the fast-moving "Independence March."

Senior Band Members
The Senior band members and majorities follow:
Flutes, Karen Piele and Nancy Elledge.
Oboe, Louise Collins.

FILES 3 SUITS AGAINST HUBBY

Leona M. Hamm, Hanover R. 3, has brought three actions in Adams County court against her husband, Walter J. Hamm Jr., New Oxford R. 1.

One is an action in ejectment. She claims her husband "by threats" has been keeping her from her property, which she says she purchased in 1953, and on which he resides. In seeking the action in ejectment she also asks $450 representing $50 per month rental from last June through February which she claims she could have received for the property had she had possession of it during that period. She also seeks damages in event any other damage may have occurred during the time she left her home and her husband has had possession of it.

She also has entered an action in replevin against her husband for property in the house, valued at $1,118, and covering beds, chairs, dishes, refrigerator and similar articles, and has filed a replevin bond of $2,236 in that action.

She also has asked a writ of habeas corpus to recover possession of her two children who are now residing with their father and paternal grandparents at New Oxford R. 1.

Attorney Eugene Hartman represents Mrs. Hamm in the cases.

Autoist Injured Friday Evening

Abraham Crushong, 42, Taneytown, was admitted to the Warner Hospital Friday evening at 11:15 o'clock following an auto accident while driving from Westminster to Taneytown.

He suffered severe injuries to the face and left leg.

Crushong is reported to have struck the rear of an automobile which suddenly stopped.

"The Story Of Fairfield" will be told for the Adams County Historical Society by Miss Ethel Grace Allison on Tuesday evening at the March meeting of the society in the court house basement meeting rooms.

A meeting of the executive board has been called for 7 p.m. The general meeting will open at 7:30 o'clock with the program to follow a brief business meeting.

PENSINGER IS "PRINT OF YEAR" AWARD WINNER

A portrait of a hanging lamp won the "best print of the year" award for Paul G. Pensinger, W. Middle St., Friday night at the annual ladies' night dinner and judging of the pictures taken by members of the Gettysburg Photographic Society during 1955, held at the YWCA.

Carl Emery, Annapolis, Baltimore advertising executive, lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps reserve and an associate member of the Photographic Society of America, was the judge and speaker.

He urged the members of the photographic society to "share with your community the skills you have gained through your interest in photography and your membership in this club." He suggested as a means of "sharing," projects such as the making of pictures of the community and "displaying them in the schools to help children understand their community better."

Dr. Sloat Second
The greatest problem in portraits of persons, Emery said, "is to get them to avoid the 'Here I am getting my picture taken' expression. Look at the pictures you have taken and tell me how often you see that expression in the face and eyes of those you have photographed. Talk to them, get them interested in something else. Then take the picture."

He illustrated with pictures he had made methods of obtaining "balance." In judging the approximately 60 pictures entered by the photographers in the annual contest, he commented on each, giving his reasons for his selection or rejection.

The selection of Pensinger's portrait Friday night marked the second time he has won the "Picture Of The Year" award locally. Second place in the contest went to Dr. Charles A. Sloat with a portrait of a young boy pouring sulphuric acid into a beaker and being surprised by the results.

New Officers Take Over
Third prize went to E. Lawrence Bottiger, with a portrait of a boy. First, fourth and fifth honorable mentions went to David Garfinkle. The first honorable mention was a portrait of a man working at an anvil, and the fourth, honorable mention was a portrait of Watkins Glen. A picture of leaves and seeds made by Joseph D. Kendlehart took second honorable mention and a portrait of a girl's head won third honorable mention for Pensinger.

David Garfinkle, outgoing president of the club, introduced Edward M. Stine, the incoming president; Joseph D. Kendlehart, incoming vice president, and Paul G. Pensinger, secretary-treasurer, who assumed their duties at the meeting.

McPHERSON VOTES "YES"

Globemaster Crashes Off Iceland With 17 Aboard

LONDON (AP)—A U. S. Air Force Globemaster with 17 persons aboard crashed in the North Atlantic off Iceland last night at almost the spot the same plane narrowly escaped disaster a week ago.

An Air Force spokesman here said radio messages from a weather ship reported finding the first bit of wreckage from the four-engined plane.

"We know now the Globemaster crashed into the sea," the spokesman said.

The plane had left the Keflavik, Iceland, airport yesterday, bound for New York.

An oxygen bottle, part of the plane's equipment, was recovered and showed extensive traces of fire, the spokesman said. The bottle was picked up by the weather ship Alpha, about 250 miles west of the Iceland coast.

That was near the position where the plane sent May Day messages—extreme distress signals—shortly before midnight. The last message said three of the plane's four engines had failed and it was losing altitude rapidly.

Dispatches from Reykjavik said the Alpha also picked up burned fragments of plywood.

Eight planes scanned the area early today and were joined by eight others at daybreak. The Air Force sent search and rescue craft from both sides of the Atlantic— from as far east as Prestwick, Scotland, and as far west as Harmon Air Force Base in Newfoundland.

One week ago the same C124 transport developed engine trouble in roughly the same position off Iceland and was shepherded by air-sea rescue planes.

The weather ship and Air Force planes continued the search for survivors.

Last Saturday the big craft landed safely at Keflavik after a grim, two-hour battle with falling engines.

H. S. STUDENTS, TEACHERS WILL SWAP DUTIES

In an attempt to give Gettysburg High School teachers a better understanding of their students' views and the students a birds-eye view of their teachers' duties, students and teachers will trade responsibilities on Student Day, March 23.

Principal for a day will be Ann Holoka, president of the Senior High Council. Sandy Harmon, president of the Junior High School Council, will be the acting assistant principal. Secretaries for the "principal" will be Doris Moritz and Nancy Elker.

Students Lead Devotions
In the classrooms each homeroom president will act as teacher to lead in devotions and mark attendance. A student "teacher" will be in charge of classroom activity but teacher "students" will not be required to participate although they must attend class.

Continuing in their regular duties will be the school nurse, cafeteria staff and janitors. Student practical drivers' training classes will continue as usual. All students will be required to have assignments prepared for both Student Day and the following Monday. The student council is in charge of the arrangements for the day.

ASK ESTATE LETTERS

Ella K. Harner, Denver, Colo., has filed for letters of administration in the estate of Mrs. Jennie E. Blocher, late of Littlestown, who died January 15 in Hanover. The estate includes personal property valued at $6,390.

Mrs. Blocher named Guy F. Blocher and Edna P. Blocher, her son and daughter, as executors of the will. The son is unable to act as executor and her daughter predeceased Mrs. Blocher.

Guy F. and Edna P. Blocher and Ella K. Harner, Mrs. Blocher's children, will share the bulk of the estate.

3 SPEEDERS CHARGED

Three Adams Countyans were among six motorists nabbed by Hanover police for speeding on Elm Ave. and charged before William Y. Nail Jr. in Hanover. They were Robert L. The Gettysburg Lutheran seminary choir will present a sacred concert Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. in Union Lutheran church, York.

LEADER LAUDS 4-H YOUTH AND BABY BEEF CLUB

Governor George M. Leader praised not only Russell "Bud" Grove, 17, Gardner R. 2, as an "outstanding representative of 4-H youth" in a National 4-H Club Week ceremony at Harrisburg Friday afternoon, but extended his commendation to the entire Adams County Baby Beef Club.

The governor termed their record "an inspiration to all farm youth to subordinate the winning of ribbons and awards to a balanced appraisal of the elements of success in agriculture. Unless we combine the excellence of type and showmanship with the profit motive in agriculture we shall fall far short of the proper goal of education. In these difficult times farm youth will have no outlook unless he learns to combine profit with type in his demonstration of agricultural skill."

Had $462.25 Profit
The governor's comments were based on the fact that the 28 members of the Adams County club made a profit of $462.25 on their steers during 1955 and became one of the few such clubs in the state to end the year with a profit.

In the letter of commendation presented by the governor to Grove, he said "At this, the opening of National 4-H Week, I salute the members of a great farm youth movement. I commend you and the Adams County 4-H Baby Beef club as well as the club leaders and advisors, on the broad principles of a profitable agriculture. You are to be commended on the fact that you and your leaders so conducted your experiment in farming for profit that you were able in these difficult times to realize a substantial profit on the steer you brought to the Pennsylvania Farm Show as a measure of the success you achieved in the livestock business."

Three Receive Citations
Three 4-H club members, selected as outstanding in the state, were presented with citations by the governor at the National 4-H Club Week observance held in the governor's office at Harrisburg.

Grove and Jay Espenshade, Dauphin County youth who won the national 4-H livestock judging contest, represented the agricultural 4-H clubs.

Representing the home economics 4-H groups was Brenda Cooper, 16, Stewartstown R. 2, York County. Associate County Agent Fred H. Attinger, who accompanied Grove to the reception in the Governor's office, noted that the members of the county 4-H Baby Beef club made an average of $165.51 on their steers in 1955. Grove made a profit of $96 on his steer. The 28 steers averaged 428 pounds at start and final weights averaged 1,035 pounds. Total gain of the 28 was 17,015 pounds. The animals were fed an average of 382 days and had an average daily gain of 1.61 pounds. The animals cost an average of $108.45 when bought. Feed costs averaged $133.77 per animal. Total costs of raising the animals and their purchase averaged $249.80. They were sold at an average of $266.30.

The youths fed their animals a total of 147,149 pounds of grain, an average of 5,255 pounds per steer.

Boy Friends Are Not Deductible

DENVER (AP)—A Denver woman discovered yesterday that though boy friends may be taxing on the pocketbook, they aren't deductible.

George H. Allan, district internal revenue director, said the woman presented her 1955 federal income tax form and asked if it was okay.

Under "exemptions for your children and other dependents" she listed a man's name. Under "amount you spent for dependent's support" she had written 75 per cent.

A clerk asked if the man was related to her. Nope, she replied. That's the boy friend. The clerk informed her she could just forget about that 75 per cent.

155 FFA BOYS PARTICIPATE IN FUN NIGHT EVENT

One hundred fifty-five boys from Adams and Franklin Counties, members of the Future Farmers of America, took part Friday night in the annual "Fun Night" held at Biglerville High School by the area FFA chapter.

Teams selected from the 66 Adams County youths present defeated similar teams selected from the 89 Franklin County FFA members attending in both volleyball and tug-o-war.

Adams County's entry in the volleyball team included Lester Griest and Jarlusz Kuntz, York Springs; Elvin Pryor and Leon Harbaugh, Fairfield; C. Wolf, G. Spahr and P. Seifert, East Berlin; Tim Crouse and Dale Bieseker, Gettysburg; William Bosseman and Arlin Reynolds, New Oxford and Melvin Manahan, Biglerville.

James Gladhill, Fairfield, won first place in the bag race. Jarlusz Kuntz, York Springs, was fourth. The other places were won by Franklin County entries.

First In Pushups
Franklin County entries won all places in the four shooting event. George Spahr, East Berlin, took second place and Phaoen Seifert, East Berlin, fifth place in chinning, with the other places won by Franklin entries.

Larry Taylor, Biglerville, copped first honors in the pushups. John Myers, Gettysburg, took second honors and Henry Cleaver, East Berlin, fourth place.

Fourth place in the three-legged race was won by a Gettysburg team comprising Carl Carey and James McLaughlin. St. Thomas won first place in the event.

Paul Hobbs, Fairfield, was first in the crab race with Franklin Countyans taking the other places.

Other Events
B. Starnier, East Berlin, won a fourth place in the bean race. All of the places in the potato race went to Franklin County.

First, fourth and fifth places went to Franklin County in the wheelbarrow race.

Second place in the wheelbarrow race went to Fairfield's team of Gladhill and Hobbs, third place to the Gettysburg team of Kimpke and Reed.

David Hawbaker, St. Thomas, won first place in the hog calling event. Fannett-Metal and Chambersburg entries took the next two prizes and Joseph Reed, Gettysburg, was fourth.

Donald Sterner, formerly a member of the Gettysburg chapter of the FFA and now a coach at Biglerville, refereed the volleyball game and the tug of war. The other events were refereed by the teachers of agriculture in the two counties.

CHIMNEY FIRE

The York Springs Fire Company was called out at 8 o'clock this morning to put out a chimney fire at the home of Melvin Livingston, three miles southeast of York Springs. Damage was estimated at about $25.

COLLEGIANS TO HELP RENOVATE GIRL SCOUT AREA

The new Adams County Girl Scout Camp will get a "face-lifting" when pledges from Gettysburg College fraternities go to work next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons as part of the Interfraternity Council's "Help Week."

The camp, a farm one mile east of Fairfield purchased by the Girl Scouts last August, is being prepared for the first season of summer camping. On Tuesday the pledges will remove the inside sections and the floor of the barn in preparation for the laying of a new floor.

The Girl Scout Council is planning to remodel the ground floor for a recreation area and dining room. The hay loft is to be made into a balcony and sleeping quarters which will house an estimated 40 cots.

Remove Sheds, Brush
Wednesday and Thursday the IFP pledges will remove two old sheds, a former machine shed and pig pen, tear up an old fence and concrete walks no longer of use and cut brush in the camp site. Original plans called for the pledges to help in the stoning of the camp lane but the work was done by machine Thursday.

Two pledges from each fraternity will leave for the project from the college SCA building at 1:15 and 3:15 for a two hour work period. Scout leaders with cars and the college station wagon will transport the pledges to the camp. On the 5:15 return trip, the following have donated the services of their school buses: Tuesday, Roy Alexander, 38 East Broadway; Wednesday, Herbert Oyler, 148 N. Stratton St.; and Thursday, Cleason Herring, Fairfield.

Men Supervise Work
Supervising the pledges' work will be Donald D. Ritchey, Fairfield R. 2, on Tuesday; Dr. Clarence Bartholomew, Gettysburg R. 2, Wednesday; and R. Thomas Adams, 217 W. Middle St., Thursday. The men of the Girl Scout council will furnish the tools.

In charge of the Help Week activities are Richard Gandale, president of the IFP, and Rush Barr, president of the Freshman Pledge Council. Pledges have already assisted the Rev. Cross in its current fund raising drive by erecting four large red cross thermometers in Lincoln Square. Last year the IFP pledges remodeled the Retarded Children's Day Care Center. In 1954 the pledges assisted the Gettysburg High School Junior Historical Club renovate some of the older county burying grounds under the direction of Jacob M. Sheads.

SELECT TOPIC FOR DAR SENIOR ESSAY CONTEST

The Gettysburg Chapter, DAR, has selected a topic, "A Private Soldier in the War of Ideals" as the theme for the annual essay contest sponsored by the chapter for Gettysburg High School Seniors. It was announced at a meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Grace Sachs, Hanover St. The awards will be made at school assembly in May.

Mrs. Harold H. Reuning, first vice regent, presided in the absence of Mrs. C. H. Hett, regent, who is a patient at the Warner Hospital. Miss Elsie Eisenhart, chaplain, conducted a memorial service in memory of Mrs. John B. Augustine, former associate member of the chapter, who died in Addison, Pa., February 25.

Three new members were announced: Mrs. Emma E. Harper, Biglerville R. 2; Miss Nancy Tate, Arendtsville, a former member of the Children of the American Revolution, and Mrs. Joseph Banks, Euclid. O. Annual reports were submitted.

Student Speaks

Frederick C. Weiser, Gettysburg College student and a member of the Adams County Historical Society, read a paper on the Weisers under the title, "Family Memories of Pine Grove Furnace."

He related the story of the founding of the family and its association with the old mining settlement of Pine Grove Furnace.

"From the host of traditions, all glowing in romantic afterglow," he said, "it is possible to construct a few details of the picture of Pine Grove then. For instance, in July, 1855, two of the Weiser children died of diphtheria in an epidemic which raged throughout the community."

Had 13 Children

"There were in all a dozen children born to Jacob and Margaret Weiser," he continued, "of whom five died in infancy or childhood, leaving seven who continued the associations with the village. The 1850's passed and the 1860's ushered in the beginnings of the national (Continued On Page 2) conflict which was to touch even Pine Grove intimately." He said there are 50 letters of John Weiser in the family archives written while the latter was a soldier during the Civil War.

"By the end of the Civil War the iron works were under the ownership of the South Mountain Iron Company. The decades of the late 1890's and 1870's became periods of growth. The capital arising from the corporation maintaining the iron works provided much improvement in facilities."

Mr. Weiser described housing conditions at Pine Grove, the stables, blacksmith shops and office buildings of the day. He told how charcoal was made and declared that the "relationship between labor and management was a pleasant one."

During the musical part of the program Miss Joanne Banks, a Senior at Gettysburg College, sang "When You're Away," by Victor Herbert, and "Stars in My Eyes," by Fritz Kreisler. A member of the college choir and the choir of Christ Lutheran Church, she was accompanied at the piano by Miss Rachel Carol, a college student.

Miss Alice Black poured at the tea table which was decorated in a St. Patrick's Day theme. Refreshments were in green and white. Bowls of iris, daffodils and snapdragons carried out a spring-like motif on the tables. There were 30 members in attendance.

LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 156
AN ORDINANCE LEVYING A TAX FOR CEMENT BOXES, Juke Boxes, AMUSEMENTS, PIN BALL MACHINES AND ON JUKE BOXES WITHIN THE BOROUGH OF LITTLESTOWN, LEVYING AMUSEMENTS, PIN BALL MACHINES AND JUKE BOXES WITHIN THE BOROUGH OF LITTLESTOWN AND PROVIDING FOR THE COLLECTION OF SAID TAXES AND LICENSE FEES AND IMPOSING PENALTIES.

The Burgess and Borough Council of the Borough of Littlestown hereby enact and ordain that there shall be levied a general borough purpose tax on admissions to amusements, on pin ball machines and on juke boxes within the Borough of Littlestown, licensing amusements, pin ball machines and juke boxes within the Borough of Littlestown and providing for the collection of said taxes and license fees and imposing penalties, and reenacting and ordaining the present Amusement Tax Ordinance under the authority of the Act of June twenty-first, one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (Pamphlet Laws, 1145), and its amendments as follows:

Section 1. Unless otherwise expressly stated, the following terms shall have, for the purpose of this ordinance, the meaning herein indicated:

(a) "Admission"—A monetary charge of any character, including donation, contributions, and dues, or membership fees (periodical or otherwise) charged or paid for the privilege of attending or engaging in amusements as hereinafter defined.

(b) "Amusement"—All manner and form of entertainment within the Borough of Littlestown, including, but not limited to, theatrical performances, operatic performances, picture exhibitions with or without accompanying sound effects, carnivals, circuses, shows, concerts, lectures, and any other forms of diversion, sport, pastime, or recreation for which admission is charged or paid, provided that "amusement" shall not include any form of entertainment accompanying or incidental to the serving of food or drink or the sale of merchandise where the charge for admission is wholly included in the price paid for the refreshments or merchandise.

(c) "Juke Box"—All manner and kind of coin-operated music boxes or phonographs.

(d) "Pin Ball Machine"—Any manner and form of coin-operated device on or in which any game is played with the use of balls, dials, or other hand-operated or propelled articles, and pins or other objects.

(e) "Person"—Any individual, partnership, association or corporation.

(f) "Secretary"—The Borough Secretary, or such other person now or hereafter designated for the supervision and collection of tax under this ordinance.

(g) "Adult"—Every person of the age of twelve (12) years or older.

Section 2. This ordinance shall not apply to amusements and Juke Boxes and pin ball machines, the proceeds of which after payment of reasonable expenses, inure exclusively to the benefit of religious, educational, or charitable institutions, societies, or organizations, veterans' organizations, or police or firemen's pension organizations, or any form of entertainment including juke boxes, pin ball machines, and amusements, and used solely by a non-profit organization or association exclusively for its members and their bona fide guests.

Section 3. Except as is otherwise in this ordinance provided, there is hereby assessed, levied and imposed for the general Borough purposes, the following taxes for one year beginning April 1, 1956:

(a) A tax of 10 per cent of the price of each adult admission to each and every amusement within the Borough of Littlestown; provided that the person conducting such amusement shall be responsible for collecting said tax; and provided further that where no fixed admission is charged, the tax shall be based upon the gross admissions collected and shall be paid by the person conducting the amusement.

(b) A tax of $5.00 per year, or portion thereof, upon each pin ball machine and upon each juke box operated within the Borough of Littlestown.

Section 4. After the effective date of this ordinance, any person desiring to conduct or operate, or to continue to conduct or operate, any amusement, pin ball machine or juke box within the Borough shall file with the Secretary on a form provided or approved by him, an application for a permit or permits, and pay the permit fee or fees as herein provided.

(a) In the case of any amusement that is to continue for longer than ten days, a permanent amusement permit shall be issued annually for each year, or fraction thereof, at a fee of $2.00. A temporary amusement permit shall be issued at the fee of $1.00 for each and every amusement that is to continue for ten days or less.

(b) The Borough Secretary shall procure, at the expense of the Borough, a sufficient number of permit application forms on each of which shall be stated the name of the Borough, the type permit, the name and address of the holder, the location and type of amusement, the period for which issued (the year or temporary permit period), the permit number, the date of issuance, and such other reasonable information as the Secretary may require. Each permit shall be issued in duplicate and signed by the Secretary. The original, to which the Borough seal shall be affixed, shall be given to the applicant, and the duplicate shall be retained by the Secretary. In case of loss, defacement or destruction of any permit, its holder shall apply to the Secretary for a new permit which shall be issued for a fee of $1.00.

(c) Any person subject to this ordinance conducts amusements, or operates any juke boxes or pin ball machines at different locations within the Borough, a separate permit shall be obtained for each location, and shall specify the number of amusements and machines there located.

(d) Any new or additional amusement and each additional pin ball machine or juke box at any location within the Borough shall require a new application and permit; but this provision shall not apply to a replacement machine.

(e) Permits shall not be assignable and shall be conspicuously displayed at the location for which they are issued.

Section 5. (a) Every holder of a permit amusement permit shall, on or before the last day of every month, transmit to the Secretary a report, under oath or affirmation, of the total admissions charged or collected, and the total amount of tax due from such person upon admissions for the preceding month, and at the same time shall pay over to the Secretary the entire amount of tax due.

(b) Every holder of a temporary amusement permit shall, at the close of each day on which the temporary amusement is held, pay over to the Secretary the amount of tax due from such person upon admissions for such day. And at the same time shall submit to the Secretary on forms provided or approved by him, a report of the total admissions charged or collected on such day, and the total amount of tax due on such admissions. On the day of expiration of such temporary permit such person shall in addition submit a like report under oath or affirmation, of all admissions charged or collected during the period over which such permit was in effect and of all taxes due, paid or to be then paid.

(c) The Secretary or the Burgess may in any case direct the Chief of Police to receive any tax under this ordinance, and to pay over the same to the Secretary at the earliest opportunity.

(d) The Secretary and the Chief of Police shall furnish to the person so paying any tax a receipt designating the location involved, subject matter and amount of the tax.

(e) Taxes on juke boxes and pin ball machines shall be paid on or before the 30th day of April for the year. On new pin ball machines and juke boxes installed during the year, the tax shall be paid within ten days after each such installation.

Section 6. The Borough Secretary and/or any Borough employee designated by the Borough Secretary shall have access to the records and premises of each person subject to a tax imposed under any of the provisions of this ordinance, at any reasonable time or times for ascertaining the number of admissions received and/or pin ball machines and/or juke boxes installed by such person.

Section 7. If any tax levied in pursuance of this ordinance shall not be paid when due, a penalty of 10 per centum of the amount of the tax due and unpaid shall be added thereto.

Section 8. All taxes imposed by this ordinance, together with all penalties, shall in addition to all other remedies whatsoever be recoverable by the Borough as other debts of like amount are recovered.

Section 9. The tax hereby assessed, levied and imposed shall be available for expenditure in the adopted budget or its supplements for the fiscal year when the same shall be collectible.

Section 10. Any person convicted before the Burgess or any justice of the peace of the Borough of violating or failing to carry out any of the provisions or requirements of this ordinance or of neglecting, failing or refusing to furnish complete and correct reports or returns as required, or to pay over any tax levied by this ordinance at the time required, or of knowingly making any incomplete, false or fraudulent returns; or of attempting to do anything whatever to avoid the payment of the whole or any part of the tax imposed under this ordinance, shall be liable to a fine or penalty not exceeding $50.00 for each and every offense, and the costs of prosecution thereof, and in default thereof, to undergo imprisonment in the County Jail for a period not exceeding thirty (30) days; provided that such fine or penalty shall be in addition to any other penalty imposed by any other section of this ordinance.

Section 11. All ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent with any of the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 12. If any sentence, clause, section or part of this ordinance, is for any reason found to be unconstitutional, illegal or invalid, such unconstitutionality, illegality or invalidity shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions, sentences, clauses, sections or parts of this ordinance.

Section 13. This ordinance shall become effective on April 1, 1956, within thirty days after which all persons conducting amusements or operating pin ball machines or juke boxes subject to this ordinance, or continuing to do the same, shall make application to the Secretary for the required permit or permits and pay the required permit fee or fees.

Enacted under an ordinance this 28th day of February, 1956.

MISS SETTLE BANDS PLEASE

The bride wore a pure silk ivory waist-length gown with a sweetheart neckline, princess waistline and a very full skirt. A short veil covered with seed pearls was attached to a pillbox frame headpiece. She wore silk shantung shoes. The bridal bouquet of white roses was carried on a white Bible.

Miss Jo Ann Sherman, E. Broadway, was the maid of honor. She wore pure silk pink waist-length gown with a large V-neckline, princess waistline, a very full skirt and elbow-length sleeves. She wore pink linen shoes and a small, pink, veiled hat. Miss Sherman carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

David Snider, Chambersburg R. 4, was the best man. John E. Settle Jr. and Gerald E. Settle, Gettysburg R. 3, brothers of the bride, were the ushers. The bride's mother wore a beige tailored silk dress with brown accessories. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in a winter white cashmere sheath dress with tan accessories.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the social room of the church. Later the couple left for a honeymoon of unannounced destination. As a going-away ensemble the bride wore a tailored tweed suit with tan accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Upon their return they will live at the home of the bride.

Mrs. Harmon, a graduate of the Gettysburg High School, is employed at the Gettysburg College Book Store. Her husband, a graduate of the Chambersburg High School, is a veteran of the Korean War. He is employed at the Letticken Ordnance Depot, Chambersburg.

Colonel John S. Rice Chosen By Democrats For Governor's Post:
Harrisburg, March 2 (AP) — Col. John S. Rice, of Gettysburg, today was the unanimous choice of Democratic state and local leaders for the party's nomination for governor. Rice was chosen by more than a score of leaders called together by State Chairman J. Warren Mickle to suggest a ticket "to Democratic voters for their consideration" at the May 21 primary.

First Car Owners In County Paid $2 Registration Fees, Early Record Book Reveals:
A small book in the office of the Adams county prothonotary, no longer used and seldom referred to, contains a record of the first automobile registered in Adams county.

H. M. Rowe, of Baltimore, who spent his summers near Gettysburg, was the first to register his car and thus acquire the number 1 license. He was the owner of a Stanley steamer which he registered June 18, 1903. The fee was $2 and the license was good, indefinitely.

However, in 1905, the records reveal, the fee was boosted to $5 just before the licensing was taken over by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and subsequent registrations issued at Harrisburg.

No licenses were issued by state or county in 1903 and 1904 but automobile owners were assigned a number. Most of them had tags made from patent leather, with their number on them, by a local harness maker.

The second car registered in Adams county was one owned by the Rev. Edward R. Laughlin of Fairfield, a son of the partner in the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation. His was a Locomobile, engine number 25, and he registered his vehicle on July 24, 1903. W. B. Merrick, Washington, D. C., was third. His was an Oldsmobile, registered August 20, 1903.

George Eberhart's Cadillac was No. 4. It was registered in the name of his father, Frank Eberhart, October 7, 1903. M. A. Garvin, Gettysburg, former Reading railroad employee and one-time owner of The Gettysburg Times, was fifth, registering his car, October 12, 1903. An automobile owned by Samuel Weiser and Charles Duncan, Gettysburg, was registered October 29, 1903.

Other automobiles registered here up to the time the state took over the job were:

John Kemple, Gettysburg, October 29, 1903; Ezra W. Mshring, Gettysburg, April 20, 1904; R. R. Long, Gettysburg, August 8, 1904; Adam Erter, Gettysburg, October 1, 1904; H. W. McKnight, Gettysburg, May 11, 1905; Dr. George J. Jacobs, September 20, 1905, and Edward McCammon, Gettysburg, November 6, 1905.

Arendtsville Dribblers Set Good Records: Starting the season with one veteran, Robert Allison, Coach H. Vernon Blough moulded a formidable basketball quintet at Arendtsville vocational high school for the third successive year. The vocational passers were gleaned from a male student population of 45 to take second place honors in the Adams county Scholastic League this season after annexing the loop championship in 1944 and 1945 by being undefeated in county competition. Blough's five year coaching record now includes 81 victories and 14 losses.

Allison, fleet footed forward, proved the spearhead of the season's campaign by amassing a total of 328 points in 19 games for an average of more than 17 points a game.

Adams County Loop Admits Eighth Team: Bolling Springs high school, of Cumberland county, was admitted as a member of the Adams county Scholastic League at a meeting of league representatives in the office of the county superintendent Thursday evening. William Whiteley, Arendtsville, presided as president.

Today's Talk

BOOKS I LIKE
I like most books that have been written for a purpose, not merely to sell. And these are the kind that endure. Not the "best sellers," mind you, but the best read ones! And the best beloved ones, those to which you can go again and again for pleasure, instruction and genuine joy.

In this column I have noted thousands of books over the years, but I have never suggested a book that wasn't worth while. I received a letter from a reader within the past few days in which he stated that he had bought every book I had suggested. He must now have a library to give him great pride.

Great books are the lengthening shadows of never-dying men and women. I like books that keep telling me of things about which I know nothing. Books about people's lives, their thoughts, their travels, their beliefs, and their discoveries. How many a pocket companion I have! To mention a few — the "R. L. S." book being an anthology of the writings of Robert Louis Stevenson; that immortal little book, by Marcus Aurelius, in which he comments upon life and tells of his own philosophy; the essays of Alexander Smith, which he called "Dreamthorp"; "The Roadmender"; by Michael Fairless; "For the Love of Books," by Paul Jordan-Smith; "By the Ionian Sea," by George Gissing; "A Way of Life," by Dr. Osler; "Stickeen," by John Muir — just to name a few favorites.

I have travelled the earth with my book friends — without leaving my library! Lew Wallace wrote a great book, "Ben Hur," about the Far East and the old-time chariot races — but he was never there. Longfellow wrote a famous poem about the expelling of Acadians from Nova Scotia, which he called "Evangeline," but — he never touched his feet to Nova Scotia. I like all good books, and there are those for every mood and occasion. Henry Ford, the founder, once gave me a little book, called "The Complete Sayings of Jesus," which can be read daily for so long as one lives. Great books do not die!

TAKE CARE
"Take care of yourself," I hear them say.
And that I have said I'd do,
But sitting still in a chair all day
Is dullness through and through.

Just out of the window pane to look
Leaves something to be desired.
And even reading the latest book
The eyes will soon grow tired.

Contentment comes from whatever
Is done
For need or pleasure or pelf,
And this is a fact: there isn't much fun
In taking care of yourself.

Important Differences Between
Old Sales Tax Law And 3 Pct.
Levy Passed By Senate Friday

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate version of the sales tax sharply differs from the 1953 sales tax that expired last year.

The biggest difference, of course, is the rate.

At 3 per cent it is estimated to yield 322 million dollars in 14 months compared to the old 1 per cent levy that brought in only 125 millions in 24 months.

There's also an important change in how the tax is written. The 1953 law listed a long string of exemptions like food, medicine, shoes and similar items and said everything else would be taxed.

Opposite Tack
The new sales tax plan takes an opposite tack. It lists 17 categories of items which are taxed and makes everything else exempt.

But the categories are broadly written. The State Revenue Department would have wide latitude in writing regulations listing the specific items.

Retailers would get a 2 per cent commission for collecting the tax. No stamp plan would be used for receipts.

A Vital Difference
Another vital difference is that this tax would automatically fall to 2 per cent on June 1, 1957, and continue at 2 per cent indefinitely. The old tax automatically expired last Aug. 31.

Some items would be taxed that weren't taxed before. They would include restaurant meals costing more than 50 cents, telephone and telegraph bills, furs, evening gowns and tuxedos and live animals such as dogs, cats, fish and birds.

Items previously taxed under the 1953 law but which would be exempt now include ties and handkerchiefs, industrial machinery, candy and soft drinks.

Under 10 Cents Free
But, as before, the trade-in value of an article on a new article would not be taxed.

Purchases of 10 cents or less would be tax free.

Purchases bracketed from 11 cents through 40 cents would be subject to a 1-cent tax; 41 cents through 70 cents, 2-cent tax, and 71 cents through $1, 3 cents.

On purchases beyond $1, the tax would apply at the rate of 3 per cent on each full dollar with the bracket charges applying to fractions of a dollar.

Some Exemptions
For example, the purchase of a $2.49 item would be subject to a 8-cent tax.

Exempted from any sales tax would be federal, municipal or school, charitable, religious or educational institutions.

No sales tax would be paid on items consumed or used in manufacture. As the bill defines it: "The performance of manufacturing or operations which place tangible personal property in a form different from that in which it is acquired."

Farm Exemptions
Defined as "manufacture" is the "publishing of books, newspapers, magazines or other periodicals, refining, exploring mining and quarrying or for otherwise extracting from the earth any natural resources."

The bill makes it plain however that remodeling or repairing of a house is not considered "manufacture" and the materials used in that process would therefore be taxable.

The only exception is for those materials contracted for before the law would take effective. The effective date in the bill is listed as the day following its enactment.

Anything purchased by a farmer or greenhouse for use in growing food or flowers would be exempt from the sales tax.

Items Not Taxable
Similarly, articles purchased by a public utility in "producing, delivering or rendering" its service would not be taxable.

For a power firm, this would include telegraph poles, wires or transformers but not typewriters or desks.

A trucking firm would not have to pay taxes on the trucks it buys nor a taxicab owner, on the cab he buys.

The 17 Categories
Here are the 17 categories of items defined as tangible personal goods and which would be taxable:

1. Motor vehicles, trailers, semi-trailers and aircraft and all accessories, parts and equipment used in the maintenance, operation and repair of these vehicles, except gasoline.

2. Formal clothes, evening gowns, furs, fur coats and fur-trimmed coats if the trim is worth three times more than the cloth. That follows the federal excise tax

THREE MEN SUE
NAACP; FALSELY
ACCUSED IN ALA.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Three construction workers and a truck driver sued for four million dollars yesterday, claiming they had been falsely accused of being mob members at the University of Alabama.

Four identical suits, each for one million dollars, were directed against the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, three NAACP attorneys, Mrs. Polle Ann Hudson and Miss Autherine J. Lucy.

All stemmed from charges contained in a contempt of court proceeding filed in federal court by law on furs.

3. All materials, supplies and equipment used in the construction, reconstruction, remodeling, repair and maintenance of any real estate.

Cosmetics Included
4. Furnishing, appliances, supplies, fittings, ornaments, furniture, equipment and accessories for home, business, industrial or commercial use for indoor and outdoor purposes.

5. Business, industrial, professional and commercial supplies, equipment and machines or all types including parts and accessories. This would include typewriters and similar items.

6. Cosmetics, toilet preparations, toilet articles, drugs and medical supplies except when sold on prescription.

Not On Cigarettes
7. All tobacco products except cigarettes which are already subject to taxes.

8. Luggage, leather goods and related articles including fittings and accessories.

9. Jewelry, watches, clocks and related articles.

10. Books, stationery and stationery supplies.

11. Toys, games, hobby supplies, photographic goods and athletic equipment parts and accessories used in conjunction with them regardless of the use made of these items.

Fuel Oil And Hardware
12. Flowers, plants, shrubbery, trees, fertilizer, sprays, insecticides, bulbs and seeds and supplies and equipment. (These purchases by farmers would be exempt, however.)

13. Fuel oil for heating, natural, manufactured and bottled gas, steam, electricity, telephone and telegraph service.

14. Hardware, tools, paint and painting materials and equipment.

School Lunches Exempt
15. Live animals, fish and birds and supplies and equipment used with them such as a cage or an aquarium.

16. Radios, television, receiving sets and receiving equipment, phonographs, sound recorders, musical instruments, records and sheet music.

17. Food and beverages—except beer, liquor, wine or soft drinks—purchased from caterers or in restaurants, cafes, lunch counters and other eating places if the purchase price totals more than 50 cents. Such purchases in schools, churches and hospitals would be exempt.

Miss Lucy Feb. 9.

Each Demands Trial
The suits were filed in the Jefferson County (Birmingham) Circuit Court and each demanded a trial before a jury.

Miss Lucy, the first Negro ever enrolled at Alabama, was "permanently expelled" on disciplinary grounds by the university's trustees at a secret meeting Wednesday.

The 26-year-old former school teacher (originally had been suspended by the trustees on Feb. 6 after students and "outsiders" had rioted for three days protesting her admission.

Charged Company
After the suspension, Miss Lucy asked the federal court here to cite 13 university officials and trustees, together with the four who filed the suits, for contempt. She charged they had conspired to bar her from the campus by using the mob action as a "cunning stratagem."

Mrs. Hudson at one time also sought enrollment in the university in companion actions with Miss Lucy. After a series of marital difficulties and the birth of a child, however, she dropped her efforts.

Both Miss Lucy's case and that of Mrs. Hudson have been handled by the NAACP and three NAACP attorneys, Thurgood Marshall and Mrs. Constance Baker Motley of New York and Arthur D. Shores of Birmingham, all of whom were included among the civil damage defendants.

Expelled After Hearing
In the contempt hearing Wednesday before federal Dist. Judge H. Hobart Grooms, Marshall asked that the actions against the four men who have now entered suit be dropped and that all conspiracy charges be eliminated.

At that time Marshall said, "after careful investigation we are unable to produce any evidence to support these allegations."

Grooms held that none of the trustees was in contempt. He ruled that they "acted in good faith" in barring Miss Lucy after the riots. He directed, however, that she be returned to school by Monday.

Within hours after the hearing, the trustees expelled Miss Lucy.

BE IMPARTIAL

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) said today that "of course, I'll be an impartial chairman" of the Senate Judiciary Committee "and carry out my duties to the best of my ability."

Eastland, vigorous foe of racial integration, was chosen chairman of the group by voice vote of the Senate yesterday after Sens. Morse (D-Ore) and Lehman (D-NY) challenged his "impartiality."

Lehman told the Senate that Eastland is "a symbol of racism in America and a symbol of defiance of the Constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court."

He's Greatly Concerned
Morse said he was "greatly concerned about some of the utterances" of Eastland, particularly his assertions after the school integration ruling that the Supreme Court was "irresponsible," "incompetent" and "indoctrinated and brainwashed by left wing pressure groups."

But Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) replied that in his speeches, Eastland had "counseled legal approaches, lawful proceedings and orderly conduct" in opposing the Supreme Court's ruling.

The Senate Democratic Steering Committee ignored protests by Americans for Democratic Action and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in approving without objection Eastland's elevation to the chairmanship to succeed the late Sen. Kilgore (D-W.Va.).

"Accessory To Murder"
The committee, one of the busiest in the Senate, handles legislation involving civil rights, immigration, judiciary matters and internal security investigations. It also acts on the confirmation of judicial appointments.

After the vote, Clarence Mitchell, Washington director of NAACP, said in a statement, "The Senate of the United States has just voted to put an accessory to murder and treason in its most powerful judicial position," and accused members of "looking the other way when a mad dog is loose in the streets of justice."

Eastland said that civil rights matters are handled by a subcommittee on constitutional rights headed by Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.).

Would Bar Assembly
On another aspect of segregation, 30 Southern House members, all Democrats, asked President Eisenhower to forbid use of a federal auditorium for a national assembly on civil rights starting here Sunday.

The three-day assembly is expected to draw representatives of about 50 religious, fraternal, labor and minority groups. It is sponsored by the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, the chairman of which is Roy Wilkins, NAACP head.

Six Bullets Gain Spots In MAC Mat Semi-Finals; Lafayette Rules Favorite

Lafayette, pre-tournament favorite, retained that rating Friday by scoring four falls and advancing seven entries to this afternoon's semi-finals of the 21st annual Middle Atlantic wrestling tournament being held at Muhlenberg College, Allentown.

The Gettysburg College Bulldogs, defending titlists, are in the runner-up spot in advancements with six lads gaining decisions to enter the semi-finals. Championship events and consolation are scheduled for tonight.

Leopards Take Lead
In team scoring Lafayette leads the way with four points, one point being awarded for each fall in the opening events. Additional team scores include Delaware 3; Haverford, Ursinus and Bucknell, 2 each; Gettysburg, Muhlenberg and Swarthmore, 0.

Other team advancements to the semi-finals are: Delaware and Bucknell 4; Haverford, Ursinus and Muhlenberg, 3 each, and Swarthmore 2.

Bullet Winners
Victors in opening round matches for Gene Haas' Bulldogs were Ken Purdy, 123; Bob Wamsley, 130; Barry Kunkel, 137; Jerry Harrell, 167; Bill Sells, 167, and Dick Mitchell, heavyweight.

Wamsley and Harrell are defending their tournament titles gained last year.

Frosh Entertain Stevens Trade Here Tonight

This evening at 8 o'clock the Gettysburg College freshmen will meet the Stevens Trade School dribblers of Lancaster on the college floor.

Johnny Yovicsin's squad will be out to achieve a 95-81 drubbing at the hands of the Tradesmen in Lancaster earlier in the season.

The yearlings, 9-5, wind up their season next Wednesday when they meet the F. and M. freshmen in a preliminary to the varsity game here.

CARLISLE WINS LEAGUE TITLE

Carlisle climaxed a terrific uphill battle to win the South Penn Basketball League title for the second straight year by defeating Middletown 64-59 Friday evening before an overflow crowd on the Camp Curtin Junior High floor, Harrisburg.

A little over a week ago Carlisle was practically counted out of the race when it needed three straight wins over the Blue Raiders to retain its title. Friday night the Herd completed the task and won convincingly for the third time in eight days.

Gene Evans' champs will now represent the league in the District 3, PIAA playoffs. They meet central Dauphin at Edison High, Harrisburg, next Saturday.

"CHUBBY" COSTA EDGES VASQUEZ

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooklyn's Carmelo (Chubby) Costa today had a lucky, narrow victory over Baby Vasquez to his credit and a March 30 date in Madison Square Garden with France's Cherif Gardien.

The 21-year-old, second-ranking featherweight contender, had to come from way behind to squeeze out a controversial split, 10-round decision over the peppery Mexican lightweight king in the Garden last night.

The slim crowd of about 3,000 greeted the verdict with some loud booing which sounded like music to the downcast loser's ears. Only last Dec. 23, Vasquez was the recipient of jeers from the Garden fans for a inept, losing performance against lightweight contender Frankie Ryff.

A ringside poll showed eight writes had Vasquez in front with three favoring Costa.

Vasquez, a 4-1 underdog, weighed 133 to Costa's 131.

Mt. St. Mary's, Loyola Meet Tonight For M-D Cage Title

For the third straight year the Mt. St. Mary's and Loyola College cagers will meet tonight for the playoff championship of the Mason-Dixon Conference at Catholic University, Washington, D. C.

Both won semi-final games Friday evening, the Mountaineers smothering Roanoke 116-78 while Loyola polished off Hampden-Sydney 101-68. In 1954 and again last year the Mount topped Loyola to follow up regular conference titles with tournament championships.

Loyola, who defeated the Mountaineers twice this year in regular season play to win the regular season honors, must be rated the favorite for the title game. However, with Jack Sullivan back in top-top form, Coach Jim Phelan's Emmitsburg outfit stands an excellent chance of taking its third straight championship.

Sullivan In Form
Sullivan was the big gun Friday night as the Mount outclassed Roanoke. The 6-4 junior rained through 34 points, 21 in the first half, and was given a standing ovation when he left the game with nine minutes remaining.

Roanoke gave the Mountaineers a stiff battle for the first 12 minutes. At the end of 10 minutes the Mount led 32-24 but Roanoke spurred and it took a goal by Bill Stanley to give his team a 33-32 edge after 12 minutes. Thereafter, the Mounts pulled steadily away.

An invincible MSM zone defense proved the undoing of Roanoke in the second half. Meanwhile Sullivan and Fran Smith led the Mount attack.

In the opening game this evening Hampden-Sydney and Roanoke met in the consolation affair.

Xavier Dribblers In Important Game
The St. Francis School basketball team will battle the Annunciation cagers of McSherrystown on the latter's floor Sunday afternoon for the second half title of the Parochial League.

Coach Noel Flynn's outfit has been unbeaten in second half play with three straight victories.

The preliminary game will start at 2 p.m.

DUDLEY JENKINS DIES
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dudley Jenkins, 60, a drama critic and copy editor for the Philadelphia Bulletin, died Friday of injuries sustained in a three-car collision on the East River Drive in Philadelphia's Fairmount Park last Sunday.

Jenkins' wife, the former Isabel McNeill, 53, was killed in the crash.

Since 1900 the number of Americans over 65 years old was quadrupled while the total population of the nation has doubled.

DELONE CAGERS SPANK ALUMNI FIVE 64 TO 47

The Delone Squires closed their 1955-56 basketball season with an impressive 64-47 win over the Alumni Friday night on the McSherrystown court. The win was the sixth in a row for the Squires to give them an over-all 13-13 season record.

Delone pulled a big surprise when they jumped out in front 18-5 in the first period on some fine, fast moving team work. Carroll Funk and Dick Smith landed from the outside while Joe Poist and Phil Staub stayed in close for the layups. Poist and Ed Roth added from the foul line. Jude Smith dunked a goal and foul as Dan Greenholt dropped a long set to account for the grads' five points.

In the second frame Coach Russ substituted freely and every cager had a chance to play. Jim Breighner, class of '55, led the Alumni to a 16-point spurge in the second stanza with four fouls and a one-handed jump shot. Frank Funk, Gene Miller and Phil Smith landed from the foul line while Dan Greenholt and Jake Chrismer tossed in the two pointers. Tom Klunk paced the Squires with a pair of goals and a foul. At the end of the first half Delone had jumped to a 34-21 lead.

Benches Are Cleared
In the second half everyone was chipping in for their respective sides. Both benches were cleared but the Squires continued to roll as they led 48-37 at the end of the first three periods.

The fourth period was used primarily by Coach Russ to find out how his starting five Juniors would work together and they proved themselves capable enough to handle plenty of stiff competition.

Jude Smith, 6'4" center from the class of '55, was high man in the game with 16 points. Joe Poist and Richie Hemler, both returning Juniors, captured honors for Delone with 12 and 10 points respectively.

Playing their last game in a Delone uniform due to graduation were seven seniors. Dick Smith, outstanding defensive and offensive man, Carroll Funk, excellent ball handler, Tom Klunk, center, Gene Groff, a forward, and Herb Horwedel, Mike Brady and Johnny Washington all guards. Washington is the only Gettysburg lad.

GALES, GUSTS HIT NORTHWEST
SEATTLE (AP) — Hurricane-force winds, lightning and heavy rain swooshed across the Pacific Northwest coastal area last night in a brief storm which did widespread minor but little real damage.

Worst hit by the 70 to 81 mile-an-hour winds and spectacular lightning display were trees, utility poles and transformers. The net result was widespread blackout of rural residential areas, blockaded roads and many frightened persons who flooded newspapers and police with phone calls.

No immediate reports of personal injury were received although the storm raged from southern Oregon to southern British Columbia, in varying intensities.

ALABAMA IS ASSURED OF NCAA BERTH

By BEN OLAN
The Associated Press
Alabama, the new Southeastern Conference basketball champion, was assured of an NCAA tournament berth today. Dartmouth and UCLA were just a step away from clinching their conference titles and San Francisco, like the calsons, continued to keep rolling along.

The Crimson Tide clinched its first SEC crown in 22 years last night by defeating Auburn 93-82.

The triumph ended mighty Kentucky's league reign. Except for 1953, the season they were suspended by the NCAA and SEC, the Wildcats had finished on top every year since 1944.

Dartmouth moved to a 9-3 Ivy League mark by trouncing Harvard 86-71 to move a game and a half ahead of Columbia.

49 Games For Dons
UCLA, with Willie (The Whale) Naulls scoring 39 points for a school mark, edged California 85-80 to clinch at least a tie for the Pacific Coast Conference championship. The victory was UCLA's 14th straight.

Under-ranked San Francisco, the NCAA champs, extended their unbeaten string to 49 games by drubbing Pepperdine 68-40.

Meanwhile, there was plenty of action on the Southern and Atlantic Coast conference tournament fronts.

"Hot Rod" Trips Furman
In the Southern Conference, West Virginia, led by Hot Rod Hundley's 42 points, tripped Furman 77-74 and Richmond beat Washington and Lee 65-56. The winners meet tonight for the title and an automatic NCAA spot.

At Raleigh, N.C. North Carolina State and Wake Forest survived the ACC semifinals. State, No. 5 in the Associated Press poll, dumped Duke 91-79 and Wake Forest defeated North Carolina 77-56.

In other games, Kansas beat Colorado 54-44 to keep alive its Big Seven title hopes. Cornell tripped Penn 83-78 and Villanova downed St. Bonaventure 72-54.

COEDS LOSE TO ELIZABETHTOWN
The Gettysburg College coeds dropped both ends of a basketball doubleheader to Elizabethtown College here Friday.

Coach Grace Kenney's varsity, previous winner at Elizabethtown, lost a hard fought 41-40 verdict in the feature game after the score was tied at 22-22 at half.

In the preliminary Elizabethtown romped to an easy 59-25 victory. East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will meet the Bullette varsity here Monday.

PORTERFIELD WAS HAPPY TO LEAVE NATS

By JOE REICHLER
SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Bob Porterfield disclosed today he had wanted to be traded by Washington practically since the first day Charlie Dressen was named manager of the Senators.

The veteran right-hander's hope was fulfilled less than a year later when he, along with Mickey Vernon, Johnny Schmitz and Tom Umphlett were dealt to Boston for five young players.

"I cannot describe how happy I was to part with Dressen," Porterfield said. "I wanted to be traded—anywhere. It was just a lost season for me."

Didn't See Eye-To-Eye
Porterfield, working to get in shape in the Red Sox training camp, then related, sometimes reluctantly, some of his differences with Dressen.

"I promised myself I wouldn't discuss my troubles with Charlie last year," he said, "but there are some things a person must get off his chest. I don't want to say anything detrimental to anybody so I'll merely say Dressen and I didn't see eye to eye concerning pitching."

"First Person Complex"
Porterfield, a 22-game winner in 1953, won only 10 and lost 17 for the last place Senators. He admitted he didn't pitch as well as in other years, but he indicated he would have won more games had he been in happier surroundings.

"Dressen and I just couldn't get along," he said. "He's an individualist with a first person complex. He wanted to tell me how to pitch and I felt I had been around long enough to know something about pitching myself."

"I'll say one thing for Dressen. He knows his baseball as well as any man I know. He's a good manager, but he was always looking out for Charlie Dressen."

Fred Merkle Dies; Famous For Boner
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Fred Merkle, 67, who was remembered more for one boner play than for all the good ones he made in 19 years of major league baseball, died at his home yesterday.

Merkle died in bed of natural causes, said Mark W. Curry Jr. of Baggett-McIntosh Funeral Directors.

The play that brought him fame cost the New York Giants the 1908 National League pennant. In an important game late in September Merkle neglected to go from first to second base on a hit that apparently drove in the winning run from third.

Johnny Evers, Chicago Cubs second baseman, tagged second to force out Merkle. The game was thrown out, Chicago and New York tied for the championship, and Chicago won the playoff.

Merkle played in 1907 to 1926.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Humphrey Bogart is resting in Good Samaritan Hospital following major chest surgery.

The operation removed a small swelling in Bogart's esophagus. His physician, Dr. Maynard Brandams, said the swelling was due to inflammation, and was not cancerous.

BUILDING AND FARM

Tricks With Paint May Hide Flaws In House Design

There are some homes that are not exactly things of beauty. Some have chimneys much too massive for the size of the house to which they are attached. Some houses are too tall and have several different kinds of siding that give the impression that the house was built by about five different builders who weren't talking to each other. Well, if you plan to paint your house this year, you can get rid of a lot of the flaws of exterior design as you paint.

For example, if the chimney is too big, paint it the same color as the siding. This will camouflage the chimney so it won't be too noticeable. If your house is too tall, stain the roof a darker color than that used on the exterior walls and if it's a two story house, paint the trim around the upper windows a darker color than the siding.

If your house has many different kinds of siding, wood, brick, masonry block and stucco, paint them all with the same color paint. It will make them appear as one material and eliminate that broken up surface.

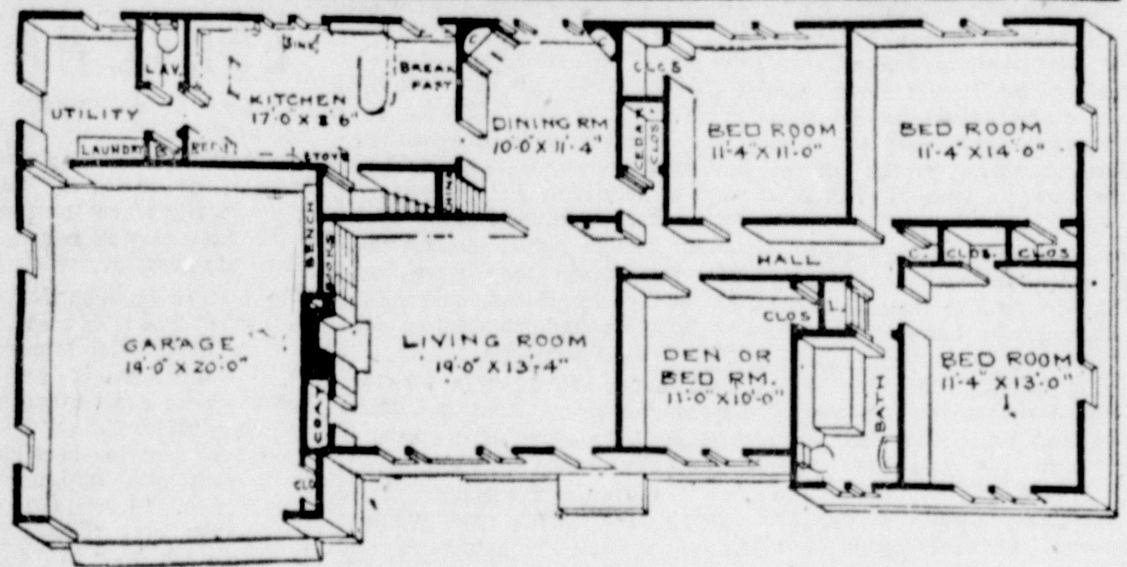

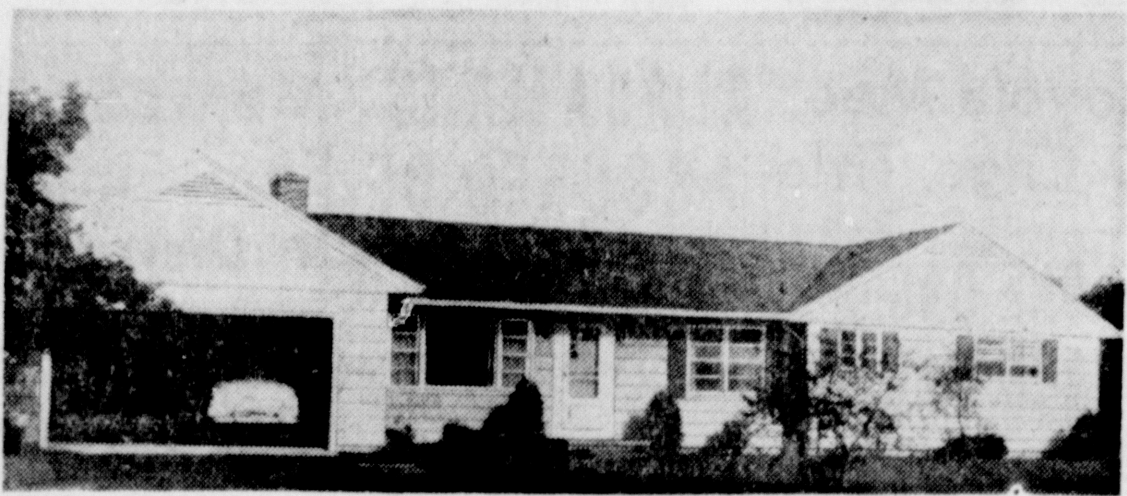

If you have dormer windows on your house and they are either too big or poorly designed, paint them the same color as the background so that they will blend into it.

Many older homes have windows of all different sizes and shapes that produce a very strange effect. The remedy is to paint the window trim and sash the same color as the siding. If these windows are fitted with outside shutters, either remove them or paint them the same color as the siding.

EASY DOES IT

A nail driven in with light blows from the hammer has greater holding power than one driven down with hard blows. The hard blows cause the nail to break the wood fibers while the light blows simply cause the fibers to bend and let the nail through.

"Maine" Has Ample Place For Sleeping

Rooms	Seven
Bedrooms	Four
Closets	Twelve
Cubage	38,300 feet
Dimensions	69x30 feet

A spacious one-story house, "The Maine," presented today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, contains four bedrooms; thus, it has a special appeal for the many families who prefer a house with plenty of sleeping facilities.

Straight and simple lines give a handsome, uncluttered appearance to the exterior of this house. Multi-colored roofing can be used most effectively to add brightness and gaiety to this house. Choice of exterior finish depends to a great extent upon personal preference; clapboards are suggested in the accompanying illustration.

Since the two-car garage is an integral part of this house design, it occupies a large portion of the left wing of the house—measurements given are for both house and garage. Dimensions are 69 by 30 feet; cubage is 38,300 feet. You should have approximately a 100-foot lot if you plan to build this design.

All four bedrooms are located in the right wing of the house where they are assured of both privacy and quiet. Each room features good lighting and ventilation as well as ample storage space. The all modern bath—which contains both a tub and a shower—is conveniently near to the bedrooms as is the large linen closet.

Although the front door opens directly into the living room, it is so placed that you don't have to walk directly through the center of the room to reach the other rooms in this house. A fireplace and built-in bookshelves are suggested for the living room.

Pleasant Dining Room
Leading directly off the kitchen the dining room is a pleasant, well-arranged room. Ample window area adds to the pleasant, cheerful appearance of the room while three built-in china closets provide lots of handy storage space for china, glassware and table linen.

Featuring a complete array of up-to-date equipment, the kitchen also contains a good-sized breakfast nook. Stairs lead down from the kitchen to the basement.

Also opening off the kitchen is the laundry-utility room. Well lighted and ventilated, the laundry has a door in the side wall for easy access to the yard.

Thus, the only basement installation is your heating plant. This should be placed under the living room.

Specialist Claims Fish "Good Food"

By MISS FLORENCE FINGER
County Home Economist

We eat a thousand odd meals every year, and fish could be served at each one in a different way. There are enough different kinds of fish to make this possible. This is just one way of saving this Lenten food can offer a wide variety of meals without monotony.

Fish, like meat, is good for us. It's a rich source of high-grade, easily digested protein. As meat, fish is a good source of many minerals. It also provides iodine for the thyroid.

Balance Food Budget

Even though stocks of all kinds of fish are a bit under what has been usual the last four or five years, fish still is a most economical source of protein. Prices for most kinds of fish are a bit higher this year than last, but not enough more expensive to take this important food out of the "good food buy" class.

Fish prices tend to be more stable than meat prices mainly because frozen fish was frozen at the peak of freshness, so even months afterwards it should be as it was the day it was caught. If you are

How To Buy Fish

Buying frozen fish is no problem, because it was frozen at the peak of freshness, so even months afterwards it should be as it was the day it was caught. If you are at Home of the Week, Inc., 87 Weybosset St., Providence, R. I. They are priced at $12.75 for first set. Send check or plans will be shipped C.O.D. Should plans prove unsuitable money will be refunded upon return of plans less a service charge of 25 per cent. A free home owner's kit included with each set of plans.

buying fresh, whole fish, expect a fresh fish smell, of course, and then check to see whether the eyes are bright and bulging and the flesh is firm and elastic. For shellfish there are some different points to remember. Oyster and clam shells should be tightly clamped together, and don't buy them if the shells are gaping. Shucked shellfish is highly perishable, and only buy them when you see them on ice and where you know they have been properly handled.

Different Cuts Of Fish

In Pennsylvania, packaged dressed frozen fish is available at any time in fairly good variety, but only in the larger cities especially in the East or near Lake Erie is fresh fish generally available. When buying fresh fish, remember that it comes in many different forms: whole, drawn, dressed, filleted, or as steaks. The fillets are the meaty sides with practically all the bones removed, and they require no further preparation for cooking. The steaks are actually cross sections of larger fish usually with a cross section of the backbone remaining. After cooking, this is easily removed. Steaks, fillets, and drawn fish are the quickest and easiest to serve, of course.

Whole (or Round) — fish just as it comes from the water.

Drawn — eviscerated only.

Dressed — eviscerated and head, tail, and fins removed.

Fillet — meaty side of a fish.

Steaks — cross section of a large fish.

Frozen — Don't thaw until you are ready to use it. Once it is thawed, never re-freeze it. Keep in the freezing compartment.

Raw — Wrap lightly in wax paper, and place in the meat storage compartment.

To make the smell of cooking fish more pleasant, scorch a little brown sugar or vinegar in a frying pan. Then, guests who might drop in after dinner can never tell you had fish; that is, unless you tell them how good it was.

MATS FROM WALLPAPER

Just a short roll of wallpaper left over from dining or kitchen area can be turned into interesting place mats that will co-ordinate your table with the room.

The cost is negligible if you wish to make these mats and do not have wallpaper in the room perhaps you can buy a discounted roll or sample roll, from which some may have been cut, at your paint and wallpaper store.

Dry Bedding Is Best For Calves

Well ventilated quarters and deep, dry bedding are the keys to preventing pneumonia in both beef and dairy calves, according to Assistant County Agent J. David Naugle.

Periods of damp weather followed by sharp drops in temperature are a time of danger for calves. If acute pneumonia sets in, a calf may die quickly. To prevent pneumonia, barns should be clean, dry and well ventilated. Fans will help improve ventilation in barns.

Other preventative measures are daily exercise outdoors, if weather permits, and proper regular feeding.

See that all newborn calves receive an ample amount of colostrum, or first milk, as soon as possible. After that, pre-milk the cow to prevent overfeeding when the calf nurses. Overfeeding may cause scours, and scours is often followed by pneumonia.

If calves appear sluggish and pneumonia is suspected, check their temperatures. If a calf's temperature reaches 103 degrees or more, call a veterinarian.

Pneumonia is hard to check when several calves in a herd become infected. Early diagnosis and early treatment are of primary importance in curing the disease.

Steps Easily Constructed Of Cement Blocks

Most home owners are sadly aware that outside wood steps require constant maintenance, and are expensive things to replace in masonry.

Usually a set of steps will be replaced in brick or a form will be built and filled with concrete to furnish a solid set. Both jobs require a considerable amount of skill on the part of the home owner or a substantial outlay in cash. Almost any unskilled person can build a substantial set of steps with cement blocks by following these directions:

Accurate Measurements

The first step is to take accurate measurements so that the exact number of steps can be decided upon. Usually, the number of block steps will equal the number of present wood steps, but in some cases the old risers may be less than the height of a block, or the thread of the old step deeper than the top of a block. Therefore the first essential is to settle upon the correct dimensions. When this is done, it is a good idea to make a rough drawing to follow.

The actual work starts with laying out a plain wood form about four inches high which is filled with concrete and furnishes the slab or the foundation for the blocks. The second step, after the slab has set, is to lay the blocks in regular steps.

Spaces may be left between them, to present any depth from front edge to back desired. The holes in the blocks are filled with wet, wadded paper and plastered over with concrete.

WROUGHT-IRON FINISH

A good finish for interior wrought iron is conch black. If you want to give it a dull shine, apply varnish over the conch black after it's dry.

Remedies For Damp Closets

Do you know why closets in older homes are so small and why there are so few of them? Well, the answer is very simple — people in those days didn't have many clothes so there was no reason for closets. Anyway, today most people have a lot of clothes and come summer they are likely to pack them into a closet and then the next thing they know, the closet becomes damp. Sometimes the closet is damp in winter as well as in summer.

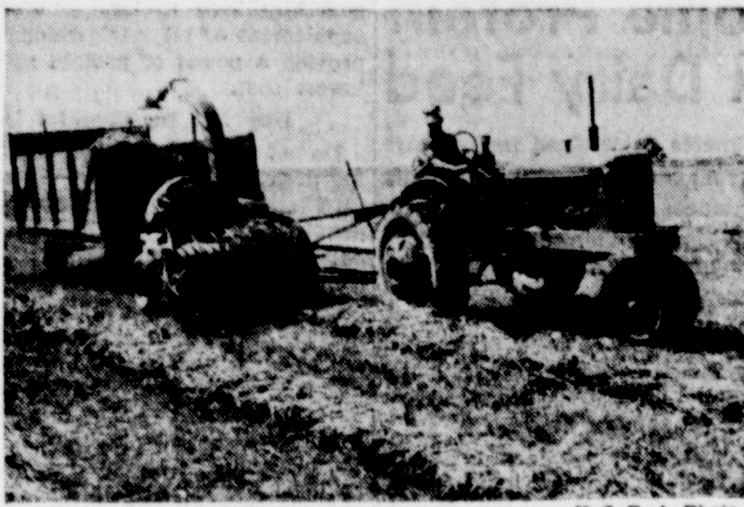

The cause of all this dampness is usually just poor ventilation and the more stuff you jam into the closet, the worse the ventilation becomes. One way to get around this trouble if your closet is on an outside wall is to install a vent to ventilate the closet with plenty of fresh outside air. Of course, the lower should be closed during the winter months. If this can't be done, try replacing the existing door with one that has louvers in it or make openings (they can be screened to keep out the insects) in the existing door.

Poor Ventilation

In some cases even with louvers in the door or the door opened wide, ventilation in the closet is still poor. The thing to do in this case is to use a small portable fan to force fresh air into the closet. The fan can be set on a chair facing the opened closet door and if the fan is allowed to blow into the closet for an hour or so each day it should keep the closet free of dampness.

Another suggestion is to hang bags of air-drier in the closet. These contain certain chemicals that absorb the moisture out of the air and so they'll keep the closet and your clothes nice and dry.

Better Forage Yields Result From Good Harvesting Methods

Chopping grass silage in the field.

Increased forage yields resulting from the use of improved harvesting methods are of great economic significance.

Better tillage methods, planting high quality seed of adapted, high-yielding varieties, judicious use of fertilizer, practical labor-saving methods and low-cost equipment, all help increase farm business and decrease the cost per unit of farm products.

In determining the best methods to use in harvesting forage of high quality, consideration should be given to the yield of the crops, the cost of different ways of harvesting and the suitability of the various methods for rapid, orderly harvesting.

Many Advantages

Making silage from the hay crop has many advantages. If the moisture content of the chopped material is reduced to between 60 and 70 per cent by wilting in the field or by adding ground grains in the silo, the silage can provide the principal part of the roughage ration for dairy cattle. The rapid, orderly harvesting of a forage crop as silage can usually proceed regardless of the weather.

Silage requires less storage space per ton of dry matter than hay. Well-drained trench silos, properly filled and sealed, can be used to provide storage space at an extremely low cost. Trench silos also permit the use of low-cost, labor-saving methods of filling and feeding. The forage can be stored long, chopped, or baled, depending on the equipment on hand.

Feed Cows Liberally

Cows can be maintained for long periods of time, producing and reproducing normally, when fed liberally on good, wilted alfalfa or grass silage, with little or no dry hay.

Barn drying a hay crop with forced air is a valuable supplement to field curing or silage making. Hay crops can be dried with forced air in a barn, or in a stack or pole shed, whether the hay is long, chopped, or baled.

When suitable barn-drying equipment and sufficient storage capacity are available, the hayfields can be cleared rapidly in an orderly manner. The use of supplemental heat in drying is desirable in humid climates if a large volume of hay is to be dried.

Water Softener Is Used In Many Homes

Water softeners are becoming standard equipment in many modern homes. In hard water areas, these units have been found to pay for themselves in savings in soap and detergents.

The Water Conditioning Foundation reports that in a typical area where water is moderately hard, as much as 1½ pounds of soap may be destroyed for every 100 gallons of water used in bathing, laundering and house cleaning.

When soap is added to hard water a certain amount of the soap is used up in taking the hardness out of the water. This is so much lost soap as far as washing effectiveness is concerned.

An objectionable by-product of soap in hard water is the familiar soap scum which shows up as a ring in the bathtub, a dull film on freshly washed silver and glassware and a gray cast on laundered linen.

In many communities water softeners are rented by the month from established service organizations.

Paint Brings Out "Good Features"

Good paint styling is the technique of using paint intelligently to bring out the good features of a building and to minimize those features that are less desirable, thus giving you the most out of the design.

Here are a few basic rules, worked out by a trade publication for home builders:

To emphasize a good feature, surround it with a different color.

To minimize a bad feature, surround it with a matching color.

Warm colors — red-violet, red, red-orange, orange, and yellow-orange — are "advancing" colors, and seem to bring things nearer.

Cool colors — yellow-green, blue-green, blue and blue-violet — are "receding" colors and seem to push farther away.

Dark colors absorb light and make objects seem smaller, but closer. They tend to advance.

The brighter in color an area is the larger it seems, the "largest" color is yellow, followed by red, green, blue and black.

Equal or approximately equal areas of contrasting colors are not pleasing.

Ladino, Alfalfa, Red Clover Can Be Seeded With Winter Grains, County Agent Says

By FRANK S. ZETTLER
Adams County Farm Agent

New seedlings of alfalfa, red clover or ladino clover can be successfully established in winter small grains. In most cases wheat makes a better companion crop than winter barley, which often grows too rank in the spring. Average seeding dates for Pennsylvania fall between March 15 and March 30. In southern Pennsylvania seedlings can be made the middle of March and by March 30 in northern Pennsylvania. Always plant red clover on time, but alfalfa can take later seeding dates. Alfalfa can be seeded as early as red clover.

A honey-combed condition of the soil is not necessary for seeding. Seed will be favored by spring rains.

Seed is best applied if drilled with a light application of superphosphate applied with the seed. Insert the grass seed tubes into the drill boots and let seed and fertilizer fall into the same drill mark. Use only 200 to 300 pounds per acre of superphosphate; but this will depend on whether the soil is in condition for farm machinery. It is better to broadcast the seed in March rather than wait until April just to seed with a drill.

Cow, Farmers Are Efficient

The number of farms selling milk is declining, yet total milk sales have reached a new record high.

This increased volume, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is the result of rising production per cow, and reflects also larger number of cows per farm. The gain in average rate of production per cow between 1 and 2 per cent each year over the past 15 years shows improved quality of cows and better feeding and management.

For the country as a whole, the number of farms reporting milk cows declined 19 per cent from 1944 to 1950 and an additional 20 per cent from 1950 to 1954.

Sales of whole milk per farm averaged 88,000 pounds per farm for the U. S. as a whole in 1954, an average of 240 pounds per day. The variation among states was very wide — from less than 30,000 in Tennessee to over 400,000 pounds for California and over 500,000 pounds for Florida. All states showed a higher average-per-farm production in 1954 than 5 years earlier, in some cases more than doubling the volume.

Keep Litter Dry

Damp litter in your brooder house may result from overcrowding, shortage of litter material, poor ventilation, spillage from water fountains, or poor management.

Since these are all phases of management, correcting the cause will bring desired results.

Carelessness in filling water fountains and spilling water from pails in carrying from pen to pen may be contributing causes. Condensation of moisture in the air of the brooder room sometimes wets the litter in cold weather. This may be caused by too great an increase in ventilator or window openings, and to cold air under single wood floors of colony brooder houses.

Condensation is less of a problem with a double, insulated type of floor. A good plan is to change your ventilation gradually to meet changes in outdoor temperature. Start with two to four inches of finely cut litter on the brooder house floor. Stir it at least once daily so the heat of the stove and air of the room can help keep it dry. Wet spots are usually found where most chickens sleep, and around feeders and waterers.

When the litter becomes damp or excessively dirty remove it. If the litter stays dry, and is kept bright and clean by frequent additions of new material, and chicks are doing well, there is little to be gained by frequent cleaning. With good management, many poultrymen clean little only after the chicks have been moved to range or later pens.

New Fire Alarm Devised For Home

A new fire alarm system for the home spreads temperature-sensitive "fingers" throughout the house to spot unsafe conditions.

The fire-spotting elements relay danger signals back to a small, box-like master alarm panel which instantly rings a bell and flashes a light. The panel should be mounted on a bedroom wall, hallway or any other central location for best results.

The sensing elements are button-like units installed on or near the ceiling. They can detect an abnormal temperature over an area of 200 square feet and are linked to the alarm panel by wire. Normally, the elements activate the alarm circuit and flash on the warning light at 140 degrees Fahrenheit.

Paint Perfect Profit Picture

"Paint a perfect profit picture," advises Marion Stambaugh, of the Adams County Farm Bureau Co-op, by using Farm Bureau starting and growing mash.

Recent studies have shown that at least two unidentified growth factors are required for maximum chick growth. One of these factors is found in fish meal, meat scraps and other animal products. The other exists in dried whey, butyl fermentation products, distillers solubles and dried brewers' yeast. Substantial quantities of these ingredients offer further assurance of obtaining the best chick growth when you feed Farm Bureau Starting and Growing Mash.

Stambaugh also said that chicks need energy... the power or fuel portion of a diet... for maintenance of body temperature and other life processes; protein, the amino acids required for the manufacture and maintenance of body

HOW TO TELL IF GRUBS ARE UNDER THE LAWN

To find out whether there are grubs under the lawn, cut down two or three inches deep on three sides of a square foot of sod with a sharp spade. Then lift up the sod and look for white grubs one to one and one-half inches long. Six or more per square foot indicates need for a grubproofing treatment to prevent damage to the lawn.

Blue And Gray Meeting Again

Pourscore and seven years ago (plus six more, to be accurate!), the Blue and the Gray met on the field of battle at Gettysburg. Now Gettysburg is again seeing blue and gray — plus pink, green, orange, brown, yellow, etc. — in the full range of colorizer paint colors.

Through the efforts of Wetherill Colorizer salesman R. E. "Bob" Gray, Gettysburg is probably one of the best colorized towns in the country.

Gettysburg College uses Colorizer paints almost exclusively. The Gettysburg Construction Company uses Colorizer paints exclusively on all its homes. The firm has found Colorizer especially helpful in its housing development at Colt Park.

It seems they find their homes lots easier to sell when they can offer prospective buyers an unlimited paint color choice. Colorizer album makes it easy for them to live up to that offer.

Hub of Wetherill Colorizer activity in the Gettysburg area is the Gettysburg Building Supply Company, which stocks the entire Colorizer Line and merchandises Colorizer throughout the community.

tissue; minerals, for bone and soft tissue formation, and vitamins are also extremely important to the growth, maintenance and health of the chick. The final balance of Starting and Growing Mash comes about when the correct levels of vitamins are supplied in combination with protein, energy and minerals.

Spending Can Help You Sell 'Older House'

A little money can get you a lot when you sell an older home.

That little, real estate men say, should be invested in some remodeling and redecorating that will give the house a smart, up-to-date look. Since you have lived with the home yourself and become used to its faults, you'll probably need some outside help before you go ahead. Here are some pointers:

1. Ask someone acquainted with the housing market to go over the place with you. He'll be able to point out ways of spending money wisely so that it will be returned, with dividends, when the house is sold.

2. Use color. Attractive color will enhance the appearance of any room and make the house easier to sell. In a small house, you can give the appearance of greater space by using the same shade in all rooms.

3. Remodel an out-of-date bathroom. New fixtures and tile to make walls and floor waterproof can often add double their cost to the selling price of the house. Avoid black trim for the tilework, as it dates a bath.

4. Paint gloomy woodwork to match walls. Dark woodwork dates a house and makes a bad initial impression on any buyer.

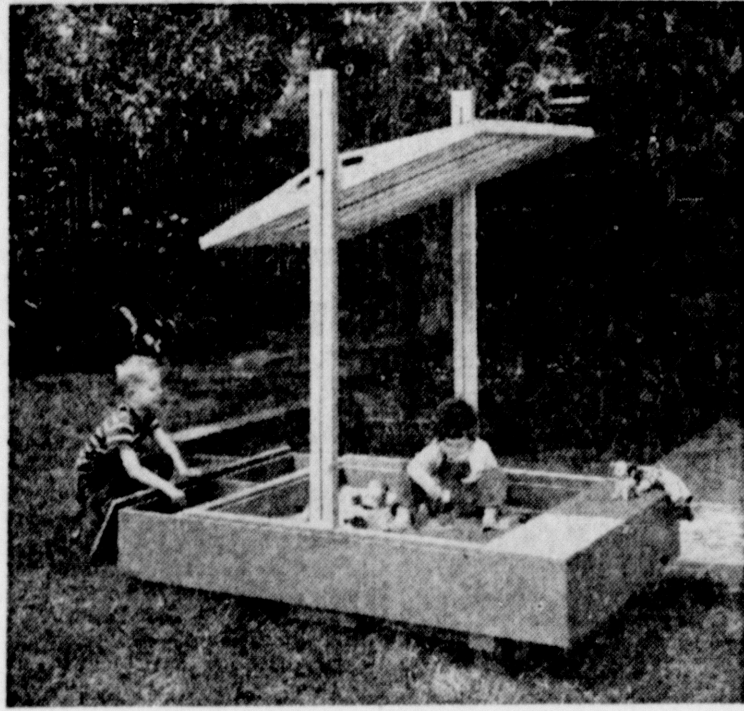

5. Refinish old floors. Usually they can be sanded and refinished to look like new. If they are left in bad shape, prospects will start figuring the cost of floor coverings and won't want to pay as much for the house.

6. Look over your lighting fixtures carefully. If they are 20 or 30 years old they probably date your house badly. Any money spent modernizing them will usually be well spent.

7. Don't over-do. You may be tempted to tear out some features that you realize, on second thought, will help sell the house. Don't close up a fireplace, for instance. A simple mantel is worth saving, and good woodwork may enhance even while dating a house.

MANY FACTORS GOVERN SIZE OF HOME COOLER

In selecting the proper size of room air conditioner for a given room, various factors must be considered. Among the factors are room size and location, area of room's windows, extent of outside shade, insulation of building, ceiling height and whether the air conditioner will be used days or nights.

Here's something that will keep the toddlers out of mischief for at least part of the time. This toy storage sandbox of fir plywood has handy compartments for playthings and has an adjustable roof shade which can be sealed down at night to prevent intrusions by wandering cats and dogs.

Attractive Sandbox Thwarts Sun, Is Handy Play Area For Toddlers

Sunny days are ahead and the combination of Old Sol and sand adds up to plenty of pleasure for the toddlers. But too much sun on tender skin can make summer something less than a pleasant occurrence, especially in the early days of the nice weather.

A strong, roomy portable sandbox, with a canvas top and built-in storage space, designed of fir plywood, solves the problem of sunburn and will make playtimes happier.

Moreover, the sandbox can be made from simple do-it-yourself plans. The canvas top performs double duty by shielding the sun during the day and drops down to become a snug cover after dark. This protects the toys in the sand from prowling animals.

The sandbox should be made of exterior-type fir plywood with 100 per cent waterproof glue for the many places throughout this country where summer showers are a frequency.

As with almost all fir plywood projects, the sandbox can be finished in a variety of colors to match your house or to fit in with any backyard decor.

A large toy storage compartment has hinged lids that cover when playtime is over; but closed or open, covered or uncovered, this sandbox

May Replace Some Protein In Dairy Feed

Experts determined many years ago that certain nitrogen-containing substances, such as urea, could replace some of the protein in rations for dairy cattle. Increased urea production and the agricultural price situation have resulted in renewed interest in using protein replacers or substitutes in dairy cattle rations. Associate County Agent Fred H. Attinger says.

If urea is consumed in too large amounts, it may be toxic. Thus, it is recommended that urea in concentrate mixture for dairy cattle should not exceed 3 per cent. It should not supply over 1/3 of the protein in mixed feeds.

It is imperative that urea be thoroughly and evenly mixed with other feed ingredients in order to prevent dangerous accumulation.

Introductions of urea into feeds for dairy cattle is best left to feed companies who have facilities to ensure its proper use.

Milk production and herd health can be maintained when a properly prepared, urea-containing mixture is fed. A urea-containing feed usually sells for somewhat less than is a useful and decorative project. This is a project where the amateur with just a little talent can make it in one weekend.

one containing the usual sources of protein. However, the savings from the use of urea are not always passed on to the purchaser. It is generally best to buy a protein supplement or oil meal which will provide a pound of protein at the lowest cost.

May Not Be Harmful

Do not use a supplement containing urea in balancing a grain mixture which will run above 16-18 per cent crude protein as fed to the cattle. When used in final mixtures containing greater amounts of crude protein, urea in proper amounts may not be harmful to older animals, but it is not recommended for dairy animals under four months old. Younger animals cannot properly convert the urea to protein.

If the label or feed tag on a bag of supplement states that more than 9 per cent of the protein equivalent is present in form of urea, use precaution to ensure a thorough mixing of the supplement with other ingredients.

Avoid urea feeds containing screenings and lower quality mill feeds. Generally 100 pounds of urea plus 600 pounds of soybean oil meal in feeding value.

How To Give Floors Best 'Beauty Look'

Floors are coming into their own, playing up the beauty of wood, clay, rubber or plastic tiles.

Wood floors need no cleaning if a good polishing wax is used, a wife-saver during the summer months. An active dry-cleaning ingredient in one cleaner is said to act faster than soap and water and doesn't raise the grain of the wood.

Liquid polishing wax can be applied with a cloth or long-handled applicator. One such applicator has a sturdy plastic head that permits it to be used in the buffing operation, too. Shake the can well, applying the wax to a small area at a time, rubbing it while it is still wet to loosen the dirt which is then picked up with a clean cloth.

An electric polisher can bring a lovely deep luster to wood floors. Allow the surface to dry for 20 minutes, then polish.

Liquid polishing wax is good on linoleum and vinyl plastic floors too. A self-polishing wax is better for asphalt tiles, say experts.
